The legacy of Paul Soloway: much more than expert play

Dozens of friends and admirers of Paul Soloway gathered Saturday night to say goodbye to the Hall of Fame player who leaves a greater legacy as a husband, friend and mentor.

"He was always there for you," said Marc Jacobus, one of many who offered tributes to Soloway. The ACBL's all-time leading masterpoint holder died Nov. 5 of complications from an infection. "Paul always found what was good in bridge and in life."

The large ballroom at the Marriott was filled with people who knew Soloway, 66, or knew of him. The audience sat at tables where bridge had been played earlier in the day. Said David Berkowitz, impromptu master of ceremonies, "This is where he would have wanted it."

The program started with an announcement from ACBL President Sharon Fairchild, who told the gathering that starting in 2008, the winner of the annual race to collect the most masterpoints in nationally rated events will receive the Paul Soloway Trophy as player of the year.

Gary Cohler: "Few people know how hard he worked at the game."

Speaker after speaker detailed Soloway's fierce competitive spirit, his unswerving loyalty to friends, his devotion to his wife, Pam, his love of bridge and his availability to anyone who wanted to learn about the game.

"I have played with and against the best players in the world," said Alan Sontag. "Paul was the best."

John Swanson said his longtime friend Soloway was meant to play bridge. The regular job Soloway held long ago, said Swanson, "was the worst two months of his life."

Paul Soloway during the 2003 World Championships in Monte Carlo, where his team won the Bermuda Bowl on the final deal of the match.

Gary Cohler recalled his first meeting with Soloway, 20 years ago at a regional. Cohler said his team played against Soloway's in a Swiss match, losing by a narrow margin. There was an appeal on one of the boards, Cohler said, but time was running short. Several players, including Soloway, had airplanes to catch.

Cohler said he approached Soloway and told him that if Soloway would assure him that the teammates involved in the appeal had done nothing wrong, he (Cohler) would drop the appeal and everyone could go on their way.

"I can't do that," said Soloway, who then went to inform the others they were missing their planes.

Cappelletti tops 20,000

Mike Cappelletti of Alexandria VA recently earned his 20,000th masterpoint. An expert at several games including backgammon, poker and, of course, bridge, Cappelletti has made many contributions to bidding theory, including Cappelletti over Notrump, Cappelletti over one-of-a-major doubled and reverse lebensohl.

A graduate of MIT, Cappelletti became a systems analyst. He later went to law school at Boston University and went to work for the Justice Department, where he served as a scientific and technical expert for 21 years.

In the meantime, Cappelletti played bridge professionally as a means to help support his family. He also became a widely recognized poker authority, especially the variant known as Omaha.

Gromov in front in Open BAM

The Russian-Polish team of Andrew Gromov, Aleksander Dubinin, Cezary Balicki and Adam Zmudzinski lead the qualifiers in the Mitchell Open Board-a-Match Teams. The Gromov squad scored 37 wins in yesterday's opening round.

Three teams are tied for second with 35: the Cayne team (James Cayne, Michael Seamon, and Italians Fulvio Fantoni, Alfredo Versace, Lorenzo Lauria and Claudio Nunes); the Grue team (Joe Grue, Curtis Cheek, Jeff Meckstroth, Eric Rodwell, Fred Gitelman and Brad Moss); and the Henner-Welland team (Christal Henner-Welland, Roy Welland, Chris Willenken, Antonio Sementa and Agustin Madala).

Sixty of the 124 entrants survived the cut to today's final round.

Rimstedt leads Women's BAM

After the qualifying round of the Marsha May Sternberg Women's Board-a-Match Teams, the squad of Cecilia Rimstedt and Sara Sivelind (both of Sweden) and Marion Michielsen and Meike Wortel (of the Netherlands) lead the event with a score of 34.5.

A Chinese team and a U.S. team are tied for second-third. The squad of Ping Wang, Shaohong Wu, Jian Wang and YouMei Zhou have a score of 34, as do Pam Wittes, Linda Lewis, Lisa Berkowitz, Joann Glasson, Cheri Bjerkan and Sue Weinstein.

Twenty-six of the 50 teams that entered the contest qualified for today's two-session final.

Senior KO semis: Kaminski vs. Levine, DeMartino vs. Hollman

In quarterfinal action in the Senior Knockouts, the top-seeded Kaminsky team (Amos Kaminsky, Yeshayahu Levit, Pinhas Romik, George Mittelman, Marcelo Branco and Arno Hobart) defeated the squad led by Mike Kovacich 156-97.

Mike Levine's No. 2 team (Levine, Zeke Jabbour, Bobby Wolff, Dan Morse, Allan Siebert and Chuck Said) prevailed against Jim Kirkham's squad 161-121.

Kaminsky will face Levine in the semifinal round.

Rich DeMartino, captain of the No. 3 team (DeMartino, John Stiefel, Geoffrey Brod, Mel Colchamiro and Pat McDevitt) held off a last quarter rally by Tony Kasday's team to win 124-113.

Bob Hollman lead the seventh-seeded team (Hollman, Dennis Clerkin, Jerry Clerkin, Brenda Keller and Bruce Ferguson) won easily against Jim Reiman's team 147-90.

DeMartino will face Hollman in the other semifinal bracket.

JUST FOR NEW PLAYERS

Dear New Player,

My little dog Ming learned to wag her tail when she sees an ace. You can learn to play bridge — eventually! That’s the easy part. The hard part is having the courage to plunge right in there and do it! We learn a little piece at a time, and it’s not like a jigsaw puzzle.

Fortunately, you can play without all the pieces. If you wait until all the pieces are there, you’ll be too old to hold the cards.

I remember one night when I was a rookie and I wandered into an open game by mistake. It was terrifying! I sat there, praying I wouldn’t have six points so I wouldn’t have to bid.

Then I thought: What am I afraid of? I worked in midtown Manhattan for 10 years. I dealt with foreign cab drivers and snippy waiters on a daily basis. I had taught reading in prison for the Literacy Council and had run the gauntlet of prison guards — scarier than the prisoners. How hard could this be in comparison to that feat! Game bids, here I come!

Be brave! Be fearless! Sooner or later, the math and mechanics will come. Until then, have fun and bid ‘em like you actually know what to do with ‘em.

You may have noticed that sometimes the Big Dog players don’t like playing with you. Have you wondered why? You may think it’s because you are slow, or that you are fondling your bidding boxes (security blankets!) or hesitating. Nope.

Here’s why. Last week at my club, a strange reversal happened. It was workshop night at the club, and it’s geared toward the 49er crowd. A lovely pair of more experienced players with close to 300 masterpoints each wandered into that lesson and game. As they were leaving, I teased them about being like a pair of swans at a duckling convention.

But listen to this: The ducklings had “fixed” the advanced players but good. The Swans came in close to the bottom, hardly knowing what hit them. They were reeling from strange events, like jump shift bids made without the partner having any idea if they were weak or strong, bids that didn’t even resemble the hands that were holding them. To their credit, they were laughing as they staggered into the parking lot with one of the lowest scores they’d ever had. One said, “I sure hope I don’t run into them again until they know how to play this game right!”

You’ll hear a lot of old bridge players saying, “Back in our day, there weren’t all these newcomer games. We just played with the Big Dogs and took our licks. We survived and were better for it.

While there is something to be said for this argument, I disagree. There isn’t a sport in the world that doesn’t have a “farm team” system, a minor-league program. Think about it. That(s what your newcomer games are. As you gain in confidence and competence, you’ll start wandering into the open games once in a while. You’ll learn, that’s for sure, and you’ll take your licks, knowing you’ve always got your peer games to return to.

By the way, have you heard the discussions about whether bridge belongs in the Olympics as a sport? I have no real opinion on this, but I do have a thought: I want you to picture the typical bridge team, wearing Spandex, marching in the opening parade of champions. Can you see it?

Until tomorrow, then — have fun and think Spandex.

Opening lead: ♣Q.

Bidding commentary: West has a “classic” passed-hand takeout double of 1♠, 9-11 high-card points with spade shortness. North’s raise is clear. East is not strong enough to bid 3♥. With both opponents bidding spades, East should discount the offensive value of the ♠Q. In reality, East has a 6-point hand.

Play commentary: South has potentially four losers, one in each suit. However, if East has the ♥A, and South leads hearts twice from dummy, South can set up a heart winner for a club discard and then ruff a club in dummy. That’s the plan. One needs a plan. The ♣K wins trick one and a heart is led to the king (not the queen, the king!) at trick two.

When leading up to equals, it is far more deceptive to play the higher equal. Assuming the king wins, declarer enters dummy with the ♠K and leads a second heart. This time East wins and exits a club to declarer’s ace. Declarer cashes the ♥Q, discarding a club from dummy, ruffs a club and leads a spade. With nine spades between the two hands missing the queen, and no contrary information, the percentage play is the ♠K, then the ace. The bidding, however, provides contrary information. West is marked with spade shortness considering the passed-hand takeout double. The ♠J should be inserted.

When leading up to the closed hand that has a number of equals, play the higher or highest equal. For example, when leading from weakness in dummy up to the A-Q-J-10 in your hand, finesse the queen, not the 10. Otherwise, you give away too much information. With nine cards in a suit (spades) missing the queen, the percentage play is the ace-king unless the bidding or the count of the other suits tell you otherwise.

"I always admired him for his integrity," said Cohler, who added, "Bridge was his passion, and few people know how hard he worked at the game."

Jerry Hallee, with whom Soloway won his first national event, recalled that they made Life Master together and even ran a bridge club as partners for a time.

Hallee said Soloway was very loyal to friends. At one point in their relationship, Hallee said, he did a two-year stint in the military, during which time Soloway advanced significantly as a player. When Hallee got out of the service, he recalled, "Paul welcomed me back as his regular partner."

Harry Tudor, with whom Soloway won the Cavendish Invitational Pairs in 1995, said he was impressed by Soloway's indomitable spirit. "He called me the day before he had his second leg amputated," Tudor said, "and he was planning on being in San Francisco. He was always so positive."

Alison Greenberg, Soloway's sister.

Alan Sontag: "Paul was the best."

Jim Mahaffey, another former partner, said the late superstar was one of his closest friends ever despite a professional falling-out that led to the end of their partnership. After they had quit playing, Mahaffey recalled, Soloway called and told Mahaffey not to worry about their non-bridge relationship. "He told me we would always be friends," Mahaffey said.

Richard Freeman was Soloway's teammate on the Nick Nickell squad that has been so dominant for the past decade. Freeman was ill during the Summer NABC in Nashville this year and did not play in the Spingold Knockout Teams, the last North American championship Soloway won. Freeman recovered in time to rejoin the team for the Bermuda Bowl in Shanghai earlier this year.

"It's humbling to realize," said Freeman, "that without me, the team won. Without Paul, they didn't even make it to the quarterfinals (in Shanghai)."

Freeman said he will always remember Soloway as a great teammate and a trick-taking machine. When it was time to compare with teammates in a match, Freeman said, "if Paul said, 'We're okay,' you didn't need to compare. He was the best bridge player and finest teammate I've ever run into."

Alison Greenberg, Soloway's sister, told the story of a gin rummy game Soloway played against his niece, Kate. When Kate won the game, Greenberg took her brother aside and thanked him for letting Kate win. "Are you kidding?" he asked. "She beat me."

Said Greenberg: "Paul always played to win."

Midway through the program, Bob Hamman, Soloway's most recent partner, took over as emcee and told a couple of stories about their first days together in the Los Angeles area, having met while students – in a manner of speaking – at San Fernando Valley State College.

On one occasion, Hamman said, he held a moderate hand with 5-5 in the black suits and heard his left-hand opponent open 1♦. RHO bid 1♥, and Hamman bid 2NT, which he thought indicated length in the unbid suits. Soloway ended up in 3♦ on a 3-0 fit. Hamman said he considered

A journey through the interior

By Barry Rigal

In England, the old saying is that you can wait hours for a bus, then two come at once. Saturday afternoon's boards demonstrated this point regarding the intra-finesse, perhaps the last-discovered expert play.

Gabriel Chagas wrote an article about the intra-finesse as a BOLS tip in the mid-Seventies. Before that, no one had written about the play. Serious pairs in the afternoon game on Saturday will be familiar with the basic layout

J 9 8 2

A 6 5 3

The best way to play this suit for one loser depends on who has shown values. If your right-hand opponent is strong, it is more likely that LHO has the doubleton 10 than that RHO has K-Q doubleton. So you should lead to the 8 and, if the king or queen is played, advance the jack on the next round to try to pin the 10.

Conversely, if LHO is more likely to have values, start by leading up to the jack, hoping LHO has K-10 or Q-10 doubleton. If LHO wins, cross to dummy and advance the jack to pin the 10 on the next round.

Note that if West contributes the 10 on the first round from K-10, Q-10 or 10-x, he leaves declarer with a blind guess as to what to do next.

This general theme of defending against the intra-finesse comes up under quite a number of guises. Let's see how it works in practice (hands rotated).

(1) Three-card spade support.

On the lead of a club, Sue Picus (South) playing with Marilyn Losberg, won with dummy's queen at trick one. At trick two, she led a heart to the jack and queen. Another club forced dummy's ace, and Picus ran the ♥8 to West's ace. A third club forced declarer to ruff. Picus followed with a low spade from hand, won by West with the king. A fourth round of clubs forced Picus to ruff again. Down to two trumps in each hand, she took her best shot by leading a diamond to dummy and running the ♠J to pin the 10 and claim 10 tricks when the hearts proved to be 3-3.

Board 29 (also rotated) shows the other variation of the intra-finesse.

You might reach 4♠ as South by responding 1♠ to a takeout double of 1♦ by West. On the lead of the ♥K, you have no difficulty taking 10 tricks.

If you happen to find yourself in 4♥ (after responding 1♥ to the takeout double), that's a far harder spot on an unreadable spade lead.

The natural thing to do is to win the spade in dummy and lead a low heart to the 8 and king. A second spade is played, and you win in hand. Now comes the big decision: Do you play to drop the doubleton ♥K Q or lead the ♥J to pin the 10?

Although the intra-finesse works if the opening leader has four or more diamonds and three spades, the doubleton honor is more likely. If you play that way and it's right, however, you don't get your name in the Daily Bulletin.

Every little bit helps

At matchpoints, every overtrick is vital. How do you fancy your chances of 10 tricks on this deal (hands rotated)?

Danny Sprung, declarer, detected a general malaise from West on his second pass. West started with two high hearts, East showing three, and then shifted to a trump, and dummy's 10 held the trick. That turned out to be a mistake by East, who held ♠K Q 6 2, and Sprung took full advantage. He played to the ♣A and ruffed a club, played a diamond to the ace and ruffed a club, then ruffed a heart and another club. This was the three-card end position:

A partner is worth a thousand words

By Barry Rigal

Playing pairs, you are entitled to take a view from time to time. Peter Boyd found himself at the critical point of an auction, needing to decide whether to take an anti-field position holding

♠J 6 ♥8 ♦K 9 5 4 ♣A K J 10 7 2

He opened 1♣ and heard 2♠ (weak) on his left. Partner bid 3♥, and Boyd had his first decision. He had available 3♠ as a stopper-ask, not promising extras, so he tried that and heard 4♣ from partner.

At this point, although the partnership was in a forcing auction, Boyd decided his partner was a heavy favorite to have two spade losers. Would the rest of the hand play for no losers?

At pairs, you need only better than 50% odds to back your judgment, so Boyd passed. As he said, at teams you have three people to explain your actions to, but at pairs there is only one. Of course, if your partner is Steve Robinson, there is an argument that his contributions would outweigh any three normal people, but Boyd would never suggest that.

Winning touch

Lynn Baker and Karen McCallum won the four-session Smith Women's Pairs Saturday evening by a margin of two boards. On this deal from the first final session, Baker made a good play as declarer, capitalizing on a defensive error:

- (1) 15-17 HCP.
- (2) Hearts and a minor.
- (3) Natural, forcing.

East-West aggressively bid to 5♥, a good spot since North-South's vulnerable 4♠ is making. Baker took the push to 5♠, a reasonable view on the auction, but that contract should be down one with best play.

A club lead would lead to an easy down one, as the defense would collect two clubs and an eventual diamond trick. West, however, led a low heart.

Baker ducked in dummy as East played the jack. Baker ruffed, cashed two high spades ending in dummy and played the ♦K. The defenders followed low, but when Baker continued with a diamond, East played the queen perforce, which Baker ducked. East was then endplayed: A club would allow declarer to lose only one club trick, while a heart would allow her to pitch a diamond loser on the ♥K.

The mistake, of course, was East's. When Baker cashed the ♦K, East should jettison the queen to avoid the endplay.

Making five was worth 25 out of a possible 31 matchpoints for the winners.

Bid Box Alerts and Announcements

When using bid boxes, ACBL suggests that players tap the Alert strip and say "Alert" at the same time.

When making an Announcement, use the Announcement word — such as "transfer" — and tap the Alert strip at the same time.

A player who Alerts or Announces a bid should make sure his opponents are aware that an Alert or Announcement has been made.

That little bit extra

By Brian Senior

Gunnar Hallberg is one of Europe's finest, one of those players who, rather than settle for the obvious play, is always ready to look for that little bit extra. Take this example from the first final session of the Bobby Nail Life Master Pairs.

Mike Moss led the ♠10 to the jack, queen and king, and declarer played a low heart to the jack and king.

Hallberg judged that his partner was likely to have started with three hearts to the ace. The easy play was to switch to his singleton diamond to ensure his ruff, after which he would be able to give Moss his spade ruff for down one. But Hallberg did better. He found a way to utilize the power of his ♠8.

At trick three Hallberg switched to a low club, for the 9, jack and queen. Declarer played a second heart to South's ace and Moss led his second spade to Hallberg's 8. Hallberg cashed the ♣A to make the situation clear to his partner, then he played the ♠A. Of course, Moss discarded his third club on this trick so Hallberg switched back to clubs, as planned, and Moss got his ruff, just not in the suit he had first imagined.

Moss returned a diamond and dummy, down to nothing but diamonds, played the ace then king, and Hallberg got his ruff as well for down two and a lot that they were improving when, a few weeks later, they played in a club contract with four to the 10 opposite a void.

Bidding accidents aside, Hamman said, he always admired Soloway's mental toughness and tenacity. "He really never blinked," said Hamman.

Bart Bramley met Soloway 40 years ago and when, in 1984, Bramley and his wife, Judy, decided to leave Connecticut, they chose Seattle for their new home. When they called Soloway, the only person they knew in the Seattle area, he and Pam welcomed them into their home and helped them settle in. "I will always remember Paul the host, the gentleman, the friend," said Bramley.

Bobby Levin said he met Soloway 30 years ago at a regional. Levin was trying to get a room at the host hotel but had no reservation and wasn't having much luck with the front desk. Soloway, also in line, overheard and said, "Stay with me – we'll party all night." Levin recalled that they did stay up until dawn talking. "By game time," Levin said, "I felt I had known him my whole life."

At a recent dinner, Levin said, he asked how Soloway could put up with playing four-card majors, which Hamman prefers. Soloway's response: "If Hamman says we're playing three-card majors, I'm there."

Steve Weinstein said he received an invitation to play with Soloway in a regional tournament a couple of years ago, and he accepted immediately. Weinstein said his wife was surprised because he rarely plays in regionals. Weinstein told his wife, "Paul Soloway is my bridge hero."

Henry Lortz, who lives in the Seattle area, recalled driving with Soloway to the Pentiction Regional years ago. The plan was for Lortz to play part of the time with Soloway and part of the time with Grant Baze. Lortz said that on the long drive, Soloway kept talking about bidding agreements Lortz didn't think he could remember. One day while they were playing, Soloway asked why Lortz seemed unhappy when playing with Soloway, but relaxed when playing with Baze. "What's the deal?" Soloway asked. "Well," said Lortz, "I didn't drive to Pentiction with Grant."

Eric Kokish is coach to the Nickell team, and he complimented Hamman on his choice of partners. "Paul was such a great partner that not only did he know the system (that he played with Hamman), he also knew which parts Bob was going to forget."

Eric Rodwell said he once played with his mother in a tournament in Mexico. When they played against Soloway, the masterpoint maven passed at his first chance to bid but then came in on the second round and was doubled by Rodwell's mother. "Oh, no," said Soloway playfully, "I've been doubled by Mom."

Rodwell, himself a renowned bidding theorist, said he often discussed theory with Soloway.

Alison Greenberg: "Paul always played to win."

Pam Pruitt-Soloway was the late champion's wife for more than 30 years. More than anyone else, she understood his passion for the game.

"He read and read all the bridge books," she said.

Pruitt said her husband was quick to recognize young talent in the bridge world, but he worried that some might take their for gifts and not work at their craft.

Soloway's last call was to his partner, Hamman. He called to say he was planning to play in San Francisco. He even practiced sitting up in a wheel chair to make it easier during the competition.

At the Summer NABC in Nashville, Pruitt said, Soloway had been staying in bed trying to get his two feet to heal.

"When we got to Nashville, everyone said the playing area was difficult to locate. I escorted him to the playing area. Paul was on his scooter. The minute he entered the room he took off at full speed without looking back. What's funny is when you saw the look on his face, it was sheer joy ...like a caught fish being released back into the water. Paul was back where he belonged."

Recalling the Bermuda Bowl won by the Nickell team in 2000, Pruitt recalled that the tournament started 42 days after Soloway had open heart surgery. Playing, especially with the Nickell team, was Soloway's raison d'être. Said Pruitt, "If Paul couldn't play bridge, he didn't want to live."

Part of the program was the reading of a letter from World Bridge Federation President Jose Damiani, who wrote, "We were fortunate to know Paul, and the world of bridge is a poorer place without him."

Bob Hamman and Pam Pruitt during the Paul Soloway memorial.

Cappelletti has authored and co-authored several books on the topic.

Bridge remains his first love, however, and he's fond of quoting the great Oswald Jacoby (another bridge expert who enjoyed many different games) who said that bridge is the best game ever invented by man.

An ACBL Grand Life Master, Cappelletti has also been active in bridge governance, including stints on the Board of Governors, the National Appeals Committee and the boards of the Mid-Atlantic and Washington Bridge leagues.

Life Master news

Judy Allrich of Castro Valley CA entered the knockout teams on Saturday needing gold points to become a Life Master. She went over the top playing with Ivor Weller, Paul Jorgensen and Gary Nitzberg.

Fifteen minutes before game time, Ann McDougal had lost her partner for the knockout teams. The Partnership Desk came to the rescue, however, and she picked up a stranger and won her bracket of the KO. The rest of the team was William Golush, Hallie Eads and Ken Russell.

Heading into her knockout team game on Sunday, Barbara Pehlke of Phoenix AZ needed 2.8 gold points to become a Life Master. Playing with Carolyn Scerni, Liz Nixon and Judy Veljuvich of Lake San Marcos CA, Pehlke earned 3.54 gold points and now can put a letter at the beginning of her player number.

Emily and Jon Rankin of Nichols NY needed only .03 gold points to become Life Masters, and they earned more than 100 times the requirement in making it to the semifinal round of their bracketed knockout event to become LMs at the same time. Their teammates were Sandi Desilets of Port St. Lucie FL and Rhoda Chickering of East Montpelier VT.

NABC Diary

Quotable

On Sunday, Michael Huston was on an elevator with two people who were headed for the playing area on Level 2B in the hotel.

The elevator door opened and one of them got off, quickly realizing he had erred by exiting on Level 2. "Oh, wrong floor," he said as he got back on the elevator. "We want 2B."

Huston showed that he's quick on his feet, quipping, "Yes, you were on NOT-2B."

Waiting game

Lynn Baker was happy to win a second Smith Life Master Women's Pairs, playing with Karen McCallum, and the two of them were talking to Kerri Sanborn, with whom Baker won her first LM Women's.

Baker jokingly complained that she has won the event twice while her two partners won once each – with her. "So how come I'm not in the Hall of Fame like Kerri?" Baker inquired.

"Maybe," said Sanborn with mock contempt, "because you're not yet 60." (Players must be 60 years older to be eligible for the Hall of Fame.)

Lucky 13

David Berkowitz and Larry Cohen had a protracted auction (13 bids) in the Victor Mitchell Open Board-a-Match Teams Sunday evening that mercifully ended in a contract of 6♣. Cohen was declarer, and his left-hand opponent asked for an explanation of the long series of bids before she made the opening lead.

Berkowitz and Cohen at first thought there had been a misunderstanding, but as they sorted through the different bids, they realized they had actually – and possibly accidentally – been on the same page. That was notwithstanding the fact that, at one point in the explanation, when asked what they played, Berkowitz averred, "We don't play anything any more."

All the talk did nothing to enlighten the opening leader, but it turned out the slam was cold on any lead.

Her bemused partner, Mark Aquino, could say only, "I'm sure the auction will be the same at the other table."

Overkill

By Barry Rigal

Most bridge players recognize the idea of overkill – having such a good holding in a suit that it's hard to tell it – although they may not have known that this particular form of defensive inaccuracy has a name.

A prime example is the following from the Saturday evening pairs game.

Dir: South ♠ J 9 4 3 2

Vul: None ♥ 4 3

♦ A 3

♣ Q 8 7 4

♠ A 10

♥ A Q 6 2

♥ J 10 7 5

♦ 10 7 6 5

♦ Q J 8 4 2

♣ A K 6

♣ 10 5 3

♠ K Q 8 6 5

♥ K 9 8

♦ K 9

♣ J 9 2

West plays in 1NT on the lead of a fourth-best spade from North. South's queen goes to declarer's ace. Declarer plays a diamond to South's ace, and the ♠6 is returned to the 10 and jack. North pictured declarer with an original spade holding of A-K-10-8, in which case a further spade lead would give up a trick.

North therefore switched to a club to the 10, jack and ace. On getting in with the ♦A, North played clubs again. Declarer ended with two clubs, one spade, three diamonds and four heart tricks via the finesse – a difference of three tricks

How can the defenders avoid this problem?

The answer is that on winning the ♦K, South should continue with the ♠5, a falsecard suggesting four spades. Now when North wins the ♠J, he can continue the suit with relative impunity. If South had only two spades – the Q-5 – he would shift to a new suit on winning the ♦K.

Convention card reminder

Each player is required to have a convention card filled out legibly and on the table throughout a session. Both cards of a partnership must be identical and include the first and last names of each member of the partnership.

If a director determines that neither player has a substantially completed card, the partnership may play only the Standard American Yellow Card and may use only standard carding. This restriction may be lifted only at the beginning of a subsequent round after convention cards have been properly prepared and approved by the director. Further, the partnership will receive a 1/6 board matchpoint penalty for each board played, commencing with the next round and continuing until the restriction is lifted. In IMP team games, penalties shall be at the discretion of the director.

If the director determines the partnership has at least one substantially completed convention card but has not fully complied with ACBL regulations, the director may give warnings or assign such penalties as he deems to be appropriate under the circumstances.

The objective of these warnings and penalties is the encouragement of full compliance with ACBL regulations.

San Francisco 1996: A look back

The last time a Fall NABC took place in San Francisco was in 1996. Here are some deals from that tournament.

Overcoming a bad trump split

Mark Feldman wound up in 4♠ on this deal:

Dlr: North ♠ Q 7 6
Vul: E-W ♥ Q 3
♦ A 7 5 4 2
♣ 9 4 3

♠ A ♠ J 9 8 5 3

The opening diamond lead went to the ♦K, and Feldman tried a trump. West won and led a heart to his partner's ace, and Feldman won the continuation. He cashed one high club and led a trump to the ♠Q. Then he switched back to clubs. East was able to ruff the fourth round of the suit, but he was through at this point.

If he returned a diamond, Feldman could win, finesse in trumps, draw the last trump and cash the good club. If he returned a trump, Feldman would win, cash the high trump, and run two good clubs. And if he led his last heart, Feldman would pitch a club from hand as he ruffed in dummy, and pitch the last club on the ♦A. Then he would lead a diamond and West would be the victim of a trump coup.

More bad splits

This deal from the Women's Board-a-Match Teams helped the Glasson team finish second.

4♠ was declared by the South hand at both tables. At one table, Sue Picus doubled and led a club. JoAnna Stansby won the ♣A Q and shifted to a heart, giving declarer no chance.

At the other table, Joann Glasson played 4♠ undoubled, also with a club lead, but East, after taking the ♣A Q, switched to a diamond. Glasson took full advantage of the mistake.

She won the ♦A and played a spade to dummy's ♠J, getting the news about the 5-0 trump split when East showed out. Glasson continued with two more high diamonds and the good ♣J before playing a fourth round of diamonds. West ruffed in and was overruffed in dummy. Glasson then played a low spade to her queen and West's ace. This was the position:

Lucky and good

Ron Smith and Walter Schafer were blessed with luck in winning the Life Master Open Pairs, but they also played with skill.

West would have done better to lead a diamond, but he started with the unbid suit, putting the ♥4 on the track. Smith took the ♥J with his king, and played a spade to the ♠K (West pitched a low diamond) and East's ace.

East cashed the ♥Q and got out with a low club. Smith let that ride to dummy's singleton ♣J, and he followed with the ♠10. North won the ♠J and exited with the ♦Q to dummy's ace. Smith then played a diamond to his ♦K, cashed the ♣A, and go out of his hand with a club as East began to get a sinking feeling. He found himself on lead with the ♠8 6 4 3, and staring a dummy that held the good ♦J and ♠Q 9 7. Plus 430 was good for 45 out of 51 matchpoints.

On this deal, it was Schafer's turn to shine.

West led a low spade to East's ace, and East switched to the ♥3. Schafer went up with the ace and West showed out. Had he played the ♥6 from hand, he could have overtaken with dummy's 7 and played another heart through East, enabling him to pick up the entire suit and finish with 12 tricks.

As it was, however, Schafer played the ♥10 from hand to set up a third-round finesse in the suit. East made the good play of ducking the ♥10, however, preventing Schafer from setting up the heart suit and getting back to his hand to cash it.

Schafer had a counter for his overtrick. He cashed dummy's three top diamonds, returned to his hand with the ♥K, cashed his three spades, and put East in with a heart, forcing East — down to nothing but clubs — to surrender another trick to dummy's ♣K. Plus 630 was worth 44.5 matchpoints out of 51.

Happiness is a slam

Anthony Hurwitz and Adam Barron, runners-up in the Non-Life Master Pairs, barely missed winning. Far from being chagrined at the near miss, they were thrilled to do so well. This deal earned them most of the matchpoints.

(See next column)

West led the ♣3 to Barron's ♣K. Barron led a heart to dummy's ace, noting the fall of the ♥10. He cashed the ♣A, pitching a diamond, and the ♣Q, pitching a spade. He then cashed the ♠A and the ♦A and ruffed a diamond.

The ♠K popped up when Barron led one from his hand. He ruffed in dummy, and ruffed another diamond to hand. When he played the ♠Q, West refused to ruff, so Barron discarded a club from dummy and played a heart to the 9, which held. Barron then cashed the ♥K and conceded a diamond trick at the end for plus 1430.

Overtricks pay off big

Winning overtricks helped Barbara Sion and Suzy Burger triumph in the Life Master Women's Pairs. Sion had an interesting freak on this one.

Once Burger offered a triple-raise in spades, Sion liked her slam chances. West, with a choice of aces, tried the ♣A. Sion ruffed, drew one round of trumps and cashed her top hearts. Then she led the ♥10 — and passed it.

As a result, she took all 13 tricks, the hearts giving her enough discards for all of dummy's diamonds.

Sion executed a squeeze for her overtrick on this deal.

Sion ducked the opening ♠Q lead, then won the club switch. She went right after diamonds, cashing the ace, and then losing to East's ♦K. A spade came back to her ♠A, and she led another diamond to drive out the queen. North led another spade, and at this point Sion was in complete control.

When she cashed her diamonds and then led to her ♥A to take the ♣A, West could not protect both majors, so Sion wound up with another valuable overtrick.

Memorials and HonorariumsGeorge William "Bill" Holt (1930-2007)

Today's bracketed knockout event is named in memory of Bill Holt, who died Sept. 18 at his home in Yreka CA. Bill began directing for the ACBL in 1980 and retired in 2000. He directed in Canada, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Northern California. For many years, he served as head of Tournament Services at the NABCs. Bill epitomized the service portion of Tournament Services, working long hours for as many as 16 straight days making sure everything was in place for his fellow tournament directors and thousands of players as he oversaw the efficient operation of each NABC.

In 2002, Bill purchased the Riverside Bridge Club in Medford OR where he also taught Easybridge! He was affectionately known as

"Kurly," for his easy-going style and wit and his unflappable approach to problems arising at the table.

Honoring San Francisco's QuickTricks Bridge Club

QuickTricks Bridge Club was founded in 1978 by Tadd Waggoner and friends to provide games for the City's gay and lesbian community. Early on, the club found permanent residence at the esteemed Metropolitan Community Church in the heart of the Castro District, where the club was provided weekly games and lessons for more than 25 years. In the Eighties, the club was popular with people affected by HIV/AIDS who desired social interaction and an opportunity to keep their minds sharp. We have lost many members (including Tadd) who we continue to honor every year around Valentine's Day with a memorial game and dinner.

After several years in other locations QuickTricks has returned to the heart of the Castro, finding their new home at the venerable Most Holy Redeemer Church. The club is particularly proud that its players have twice been first overall in the ACBL's Inter Club Championship Games. QuickTricks recognizes the contributions of its members by presenting Goodwill awards and it also reaches out with charitable donations to various local programs.

All are welcome at QuickTricks. All that's required is an interest in bridge and a friendly and cordial attitude toward fellow players. Everyone is invited to visit QuickTricks! The web site is www.quicktricks.org.
